The Session in Detail.

The Session in Detail.

About 9:30 o'clock this morning the conference of the fifth day began with an excellent attendance present. After prayer by Dr. W. G. Starr, the bishop delivered the fourth of his fine lectures on "The Holy Ghost." his subject to-day being "The Temple of the Spirit."

Business began a half heur later with the reading of minutes and other pre-liminaries. A striking and pathetic includent occurred shortly after the opening. The Rev. Oscar Littleton, the oldest effective minister in the conference, arose, after fifty-three years of work, to ask for a superannuated relation. Tears stood in the eyes of the aged brother as he thus appeared before his fellows to declare that his work was at an end. An incident similar but different followed immediately thereafter. During the conference year the Rev. T. J. Wray, of Bowling Green, has broken down, in health, and is now in destitute circumstances. An appeal was made to the ministers, and a large collection was taken.

In the course of certain announcements that came next the "amens" of Dr. John Hannon were rather frequent. The bishop laughingly, handed the Richmond minister a ritual, and told him to learn when and where to say "amen."

Temperannee Report.

Temperance Report.

Temperance Report.

By almost unanimous vote the conference adopted the report of the Committee on Temperance, which report was in effect as predicted yesterday. It embodied a series of resolutions, (1) calling upon the people to insist upon the enforcement of the temperance law; (2), urgins the enactment of laws suppressing social clubs and distilleries; (8), endorsing the Anti-Saloon League; (4), calling for sermons on temperance and advising all preachers and members to abstain from the manufacture or sale of intexicants, etc.; (5), providing for a committee to present the following memorial to the Btate Legislature:

present the following memorial to the State Legislature:

"To the Honorable Members of the Senate and House of Delegates:
We, the preachers of the Virginia Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, representing a membership of 94,000, respectfully request that the Legislature, now in session, amend the law known as the Mann law so as to make it more effective, especially in suppressing the social club and distillery.

Interrmetted Wines.

Unfermented Wines.

Unfermented Wines.

A brisk and lively discussion followed the presentation of the report. Dr. John Hannen, of Richmond, arose to propose that there be embedded in the paper a suggestion to the churches that unfermented wines be used in the Lord's Supper. He recognized that this was perhaps a little extreme, but he thought extremes were necessary in battling with the whiskey evil. There should be a head-on collision between the church and the whiskey shop. Dr. Hannon said he wanted to see the whiskey devil suffer such a wreck that it would take him a thousand years at the Hot Springs of Perdition to recover.

fer such a wreck that it would take him a thousand years at the Hot Springs of Perdition to recover.

The conference debaters lined up on the question. On the one side it was declared that the proposed resolution was going too far. The churches should be given the utmost liberty in non-essential. matters, and this was declared to be "an infinitesimal non-essential." Brethren known as "unyleidling on the whiskey question" took the same view, some of them declaring that it was by no means proven that the wine used by Jesus Christ Himself was not like the fermented wine of the present day. An effort was made to lay the matter on the table, but it failed.

Several of the prominent ministers, including Dr. Judkins, chairman of the Committee on Temperance, spoke in favor of the movement. The argument made by them contained three or four essential points, as follows: That there was no grape juice at all in the "decocions" from the whiskey shop; that the fermented wine placed before many weak men an irresistible temptation; that the church in purch sing the fermented wine was dealing with the saloon it was trying to abolish. The discussion was rapid and lively, but thoroughly good natured, and at times humorous. Dr. Hannon set the conference in a roar with his bright sailles. The upshot of the matter was the adoption by a large majority of the following:

"Resolved, That we recommend to our people the use of unfermented wine in the communion."

Educational Plans.

Other committees now came forward. The Epworth League Board made an interesting report, which was adopted; the report of the Sunday-school Board was accopted after there had been stricken out a resolution refusing help to schools that neglected Children's Day.

On behalf of the Board of Education, President Blackwell, of Randolph-Macon College, presented report No. 2. This paper showed a gratifying increase in attendance everywhere, and made an urgent appeal for more endowment for all the schools. The report of the conference secretary, the Rev. James Cannon, Jr., referred to the growing importance of the public school system, and drew attention to the necessity for giving careful thought to the question of the relation of the church to public education. In an epochal manner the report them went on to discuss these matters. It quoted largely from speakers who in effect declared that from speakers who in effect declared that from speakers who in effect declared that the State should provide a simple system of education for those who would never get any elsewhere, but should atop here, allowing the private schools to spring up again, each denomination doing its own work, not submitting long to the miserable compromises now in vogue. According to the report of conference secretary, the thing to do was to realize the evils and then endeavor to solve the problems.

The Maxey Incident.

The Maxey Incident.

Resolutions were then presented by the Education Board. One was directly in line with the report of the secretary. It called for a conference of the Christian educators of the State for the consideration of the important educational problems outlined in the report. This movement is regarded as one of the utmost importance. Another resolution endorsed the Teachers' Bureau, for providing Christion teachers for the schools. A third called upon the Board of Trustees of Randolph-Macon to give the patronizing conferences some voice in the election of their trustees.

The discussion of these resolutions was confined to a speech from the Rev. R. M.

"I should like to say, Bishop, that tha "I should like to say, Bishop, that that statement cannot be substantiated," said the Rev. J. C. Reed, presiding elder of Danville District. "I think this should be said in justice to the academy."

Mr. Maxey declared that whether the statement was too broad or not, it was certainly a fact that there were not half as many students in the schools as should be there. He ended by appealing to the preachers to assist in bringing the children in for the teachers to educate after the teachers themselves are secured.

After an able address from Professor Blackwell the subject of education was closed. All the resolutions above referred to were adopted.

For a few minutes the ministers bowed their heads in earnest prayer for the Rosebud missionaries in the fever-stricken cities of Mexico. The scene was an affecting one. The father of Professor Campbell, head of the Instituto Laurens, is a member of the conference. The aged minister sat with sunken head, handker-chief to his eyes, while a beloved missionary from Japan prayed for the suffering ones. A letter was read from Professor Campbell, who gave a discouraging report of the fever conditions. Announcement was also made of the death of Dr. Nexon, one of Professor Campbell's coworkers, who has fallen a victim to the securge. their heads in earnest prayer for the #### Sabbath Desecration.

On behalf of the Committee on the Sab bath, Dr. Hannon read a report (adopted) deploring the desecration of the Sabbath by members of the church, declaring against any unnecessary work on the Lord's Day, including the running of excursions, and calling for a sermon in every church on "the Sabbath."

CHARLOTTESVILLE, VA., Nov. 15.—
At last is there obtainable an insight into the real status of the Kellam-Christian affair, and it is with somewhat of a near they were to a tremendous stir-up at the very end of this host pacets and the very end of this host pacets.

This morning Mr. Kollam paid a visit to Bishop Hendrix and laid the matter before him. He announced his intention of arising to-day to a question of personal privilege and opening the muchdreaded matter. But the episcopal authority, which, throughout the session has been exerted to smooth things over, was again interposed. The bishop informed Mr. Kellam that he could do nothing now. Any action that he might have wished to take should have been taken a year ago in Richmond, where Mr. Kellam was absent. He could not at this conference bring up a matter that occurred at a totally different conference. He advised Mr. Kellam to have recourse to the public prints if he wished to make a statement to the public. The recommendation of the bishop will be followed by Mr. Kellam. Owing to the necessarily voluminous character of the documents he expects to introduce, he will not appear in the daily papers. There will very shortly, however, be issued a pamphlet covering the case for six years, up to the last conference, and a copy will be sent to every member of the body. In this pamphlet Mr. Kellam will make no attack upon Mr. Christian or anybody else. It will be altogether defensive. The layman will introduce evidence to show (1) that he was indicated not for a felony, but for a misdemeanor.

(2) That he was tried and acquitted

dieted not for a felony, but for a mis-demeanor.

(2) That he was tried and acquitted by a jury of his peers.

(4) that the tribunal before which he endeavored to have Mr. Christian appear was not a district conference committee packed by himself, but a committee of investigation appointed under the laws of the church.

investigation appointed under the laws of the church.

In substantiation of these representations and in defense of his character in general, Mr. Kellam will introduce a large amount of documentary evidence in the way of court rocords, transcripts of law, letters and so forth. He has received a higher of telegrams here and expects letter after letter, endorsement after endorsement, from some of the most prominent citizens of Norfolk and Princess Anne, declaring his character to be unassailed. Mr. Kellam further declares that he has accepted every proper, proposal made to him for a peaceful settlement of the matter. Early in the conference session he was approached by a disinterested minister and asked if he would appoint arbitrators if Christian agreed to do the same. He replied in the affirmative, and named his men. The Berkley minister, he says, put him off from day to day, meanwhile stating in the public prints that he had nothing to arbitrate.

JUST COMPLETED A LARGE CONTRACT

Booth Brothers Papered the Chesterfield Apartment House From Top to Bottom.

The Booth Brothers-Messrs. John C.

The Booth Brothers—Messrs. John C. and Charles T. Booth—paper hangers, dealers in wall-paper and acouldings, of No. 218 North Third Street, have just completed a contract, of which they may well be proud.

This well known firm, since the 21st of September, has papered the walls of the great Chesterfield Apartment House, on West Franklin, from the ceiling of the top floor to the basement. The undertaking was a great one, such as would test the ability of wall-paper dealers and hangers at every possible point. An enormous quantity of paper had to be supplied. The stock from which the selections had to be made must be most ample and varied, in quality and design. Every lessee of an apartment, whether Every lesses of an apartment, whether of the smallest or the largest, had the Every lessee of an apartment, whether of the smallest or the largest, had the privilege of selecting the design and color. The Booth Brothers had, therefore, to have almost every possible variety to suit so many tastes, all dainty and cultivated—some, doubtless, fastidious. They had to supply many varieties of tiling paper for bath-rooms, a good grade for bed chambers, and the handsomest imported article for drawing rooms and "dens." Thus overy possible high grade paper had to be supplied.

Then the paper had to be put on the walls with great skill in a very brief time, compared with the enormity of the contract. Messrs. Booth took a pick of Richmond hangers and brought experts here from New York, Philadelphia and Washington. Since the latter part of September, besides supplying many other customers promptly, they have trained and out unon the walls of the Chesterfield on less than 7,500 rolls. There are four square and so received a properly and so that only become 30,000 square yards, 270,000 square feet, or considerably more than a quarter of a million. When it is remembered that this work—much of it, at least—had to be done with greatest care because of the fine quality of the paper and because the firm has a reputation to live up to for fine work, the promptness with which the contract was accomplished is astonishing.

fine work, the promptness with which the contract was accomplished is astonishing.

The interior of the Chesterfield impresses one with its beauty, as the exteroir gives a conception of the massive. The public hall, which one enters from Franklin Street, is particularly handsome. The paper is imported "two-tone" of the best quality, the coloring maroon and yellow. The ladles' reception room is handsomely papered, not only so, but a daintier coloring could not possibly have been chosen. The color scheme of the cafe is green and white, and a beautiful room the paperhangers have left it. The building has two hundred and fifty-three rooms in it, besides fifty-eight bath rooms. The work on all is apparently without a flaw, with an endless variety in color and design. It is a great compliment to Messrs. Booth that, despite the many who came to select paper, all found just what they wanted. The Chesterfield has the distinction of having upon its walls paper that cost not less than $5 or $5.50 a roll. The splendid work on the Chesterfield will doubtless win many new friends for the Booth Brothers.

Operated on Quickly.

Mr. Richard Moore, son of Mr. J. S Moore, and one of the best-known of the younger men of Richmond, on Sunday underwent a successful operation for ap underwent a successful operation for appendicitis, at the St. Luke's hospital. He is now doing as nicely as could be expected, but naturally it will be several weeks before the inclision heals. While the young man had been complaining at intervals for several days, the disease did not develop sufficiently to warrant an operation until about 11 A. M. Sunday. A physician was summoned and easily diagnosed the case. Mr. Moore was taken at once to the hospital and the operation begun, completed and the patient had recovered from the effects of the anaesthetic by 4 P. M. The surgeons found that the appendix had burst and that the operation was performed none too soon.
